ABOVE THE CLOUDS, ON THE MOUNT LOWE RAILWAY, IN THE SIERRA MADRE, OVERLOOKING PASADENA.

thern California has singular climatic conditions, amongst others a "high" fog and a "low" fog. If one is fortunate enough to take the trip up the Mount Lowe Railway when there is a low fog, he sees from Echo Mountain one of the most mystical oceans, yet full of charm

THE GREAT INCLINE OF THE MOUNT LOWE RAILWAY.
The "White Chariot" leaving Rubio Pavilion, 2200 feet, for Echo Mountain, 3500 feet above sea level

AT THE SOUTH PASADENA OSTRICH FARM, WITHIN FIFTEEN MINUTES' RIDE OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

THE OLD SPANISH PLAZA AND THE MISSION CHAPEL, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA.

This Chapel was established for the benefit of the soldier-founders of Los Angeles, but was long in building. It was supplied by the priests of San Gabriel Archangel Mission, under whose control it remained until the period of secularization.

RUINED CORRIDORS OF SAN LUIS REY MISSION.

In its pristine glory the proudest monument to the architectural genius and constructive skill of the Franciscan Padres of California.
It was partially restored in 1894.

OLD SAN DIEGO MISSION, FOUNDED BY PADRE JUNIPERO SERRA IN 1769.

SAN LUIS REY MISSION, NEAR OCEANSIDE, SAN DIEGO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA.

This, the king of the Mission structures of California, was erected in 1802. It was founded by President Lasuen, Serra's successor, in 1798. For many years lived the Sainted Father Peyri, who was so beloved by the Indians, that when he retired to Spain, the Indians swam out to the vessel to beg him with tears to return. The venerable and well known Father O'Keefe recently partially restored San Luis Rey, and now resides there.

SANTA BARBARA MISSION, FROM THE GARDEN OF THE PADRES—The Best Preserved Mission in California.

LA PURISIMA CONCEPCION MISSION.

This Mission is the fourth bearing the name of the Immaculate Concepcion, erected in California. Each time, however, on a new site. The present building was erected after the earthquake of 1812 and was dedicated in 1817. It is reached by stage from Santa Barbara or Lompoc.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO MISSION—OLD COURTYARD AND CORRIDOR ARCHES.

THE RUINED CORRIDORS OF SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.

The Mission was founded in the same year that the Declaration of Independence was signed. It was partially destroyed by earthquake in 1812. The portion facing the reader in this engraving is now used as a chapel. The bells are at the right end of that portion of the building.

MAIN FACADE, CORRIDORS AND FOUNTAIN OF SANTA BARBARA MISSION.

This, the best preserved of all the Mission structures of California, was built in 1815-20, although the Mission was founded by Junipero Serra in April, 1782.

THE PADRE'S MEDITATION IN THE OLD MISSION GARDEN, SANTA BARBARA, CALIFORNIA.

This Garden has but twice felt the tread of woman's foot—once when its corridors echoed the footsteps of the Princess Louise of England, and the second time when President Harrison, making a presidential tour in California, was permitted to escort his wife through this exclusively masculine and priestly resort.

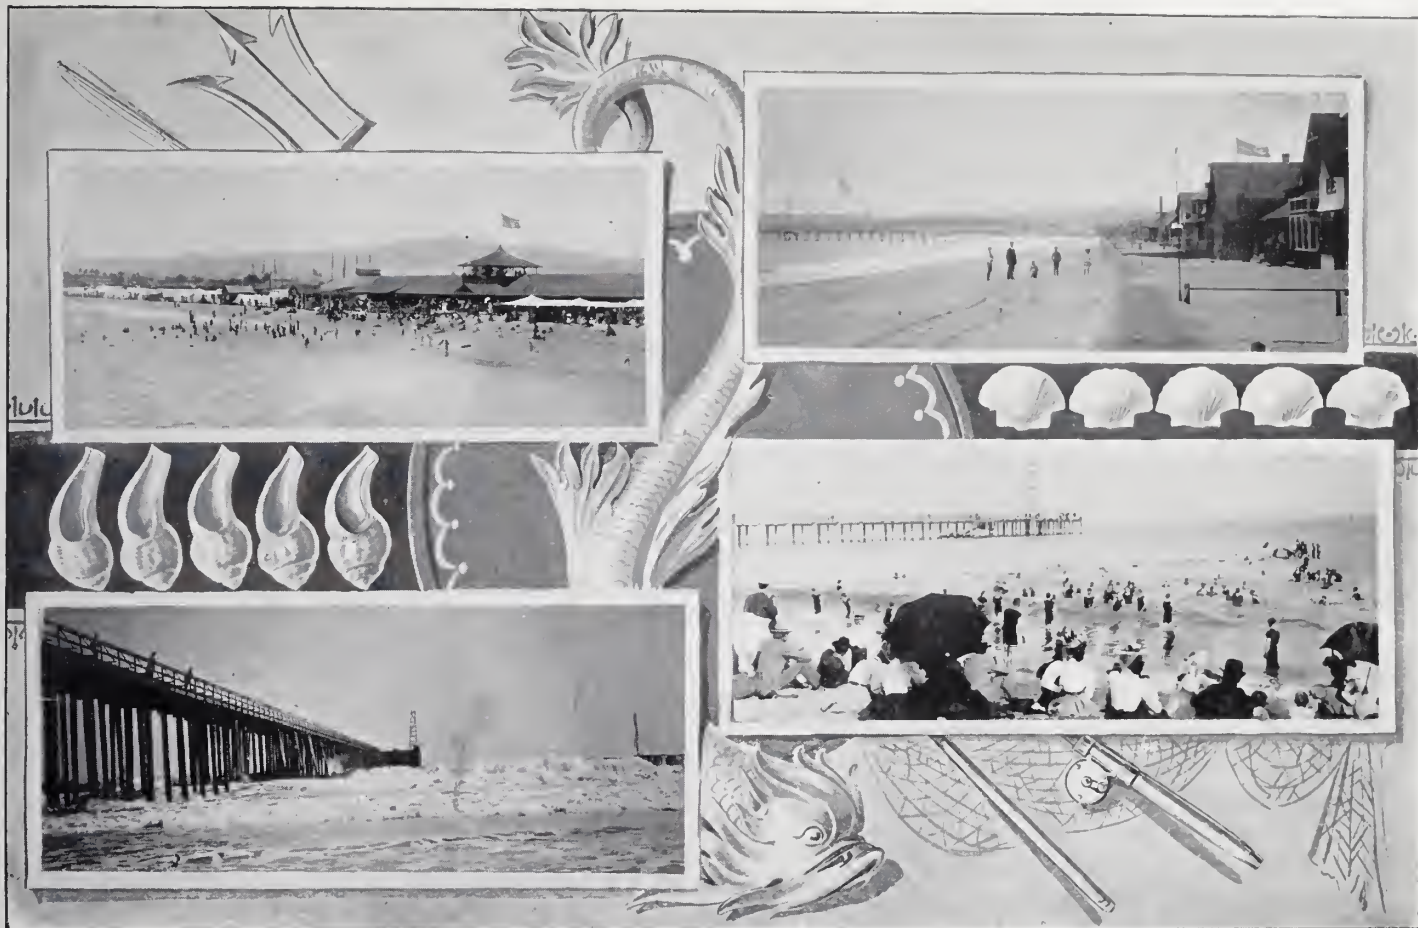

FRANKLIN CO. CHICAGO.

SAN GABRIEL MISSION—Founded by the Padres Benito Cambon and Angel Somero, under Direction of Junipero Serra, September 8, 1771.

ARCH ROCK, SANTA MONICA, CALIFORNIA.

The drives of Santa Monica are a surprise to all who take them for the first time. Though on the ocean front, the close proximity of the Sierra Santa Monica affords drives up wooded and rugged canyons. These contrast delightfully with the beach drives. Beyond the Santa Monica canyon the road passes through this natural archway which the restless action of the sea has created.

SCENES AT TERMINAL ISLAND—REACHED ONLY BY THE LOS ANGELES TERMINAL RAILWAY.

Favorite Seaside Rendezvous of the culture of Los Angeles, 28 miles from the city of Los Angeles, and opposite San Pedro Harbor, the great Shipping Port of Southern California. In close proximity to historic Dead Man's Island, which Dana writes of in his famous book.

SANTA MONICA,CALIFORNIA.

Mammoth North Beach Bath House, with the largest water plunge on the Pacific Coast. Fine, safe and clean beach,, with surf bathing all the year.

LA JOLLA CAVES.

The Caves at La Jolla, near San Diego, California. Water-worn Cathedral-like Caves in which exquisite Sea-Mosses are to be found.

CALIFORNIA INDIANS OF THE SABOBA TRIBE.
Victoriano and his wife. The former is said to be 137 years old and the latter 108.

A SABOBA INDIAN BASKET MAKER AND HER TULE RESIDENCE.

Saboba is one of the Mission Indian villages of Southern California, located near the town of San Jacinto, at the foot of the San Jacinto Mountains, so vividly described by Helen Hunt Jackson in her novel "Ramona," and where the sad scenes in the death of Alessandro transpired.

THE ORANGE AND LEMON GROVES OF REDLANDS.

SCENE IN THE YOSEMITE VALLEY.

SCENE ON LAKE HEMET.

The source of the water supply of the Hemet Valley. A wide valley extends from this point many miles back into the mountains, forming a watershed of over sixty-five thousand acres. The dam controlling the water is the largest piece of solid masonry in the West, being 250 feet long 100 feet thick at the base and 122 feet high.
